BODY OF EARNEST YOUNG MEN.

THE INTERESTING MEETING OF CHRISTIAN WORKERS.

Forceful Presentation Last Night of the Association Work Among the Employees of Railroads.

It is seldom one has the opportunity of looking upon a finer set of young men than is now gathered in this city from different parts of the state to engage in discussions for the furtherance of the great work of the Young Men's Christian Association. The sessions of the state convention are all helpful, encouraging, inspiring.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

The meeting last night opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. F. H. Wood, and the report of the state's work by Geo. B. Hamner, and Treasurer W. C. Dowd was read.

The association among railroad men was taken up and Mr. Bard began his address by reminding the audience that while they were assembled and while they slept that night thousands of railroad men would be at work. Thousands of lives and millions of dollars worth of property were in their control. He then requested that every one for a few moments engage in silent prayer for this army of men. H O. Williams, general secretary for railroad men, closed with a short prayer.

Mr. Bard then spoke of how this infant branch of the Y. M. C. A. had grown to be a mighty factor in the organization. He contrasted the inconveniences experienced by the engineers, and the comforts of the passengers. If any one class of men need to be Christians it is the railroad men, for their life is a life of implicit faith This is the reason why when a railroad man is once converted he becomes such an enthusiastic worker. It matters not how splendid may be the equipment of a railroad if the men fail or blunder in any way. We may readily see the importance that they should be trustworthy men when we know that ten times the population of the United States travel over the railroads every year There are two classes of railroad men. One who are always under the eye of a superior officer, the others the train men, who are their own masters to a great extent. This remarkable statement was made by a railroad manager in Ohio. He said: "Before the Y. M. C. A. was established we could not tell after the train left Cincinnati when it would pull into the union depot at New York. True, we knew when it was scheduled to arrive, but we never knew that it would be on schedule time. But since the Y. M. C. A. has been started among our men I can tell you to the moment when that train leaves Cincinnati what time it will pull into New York."

There are 153 railroad associations in the United States and Canada Sixty own their own buildings. Twenty-one buildings have been guaranteed for next year. In October there will be an international conference of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. in the city of Philadelphia. One thousand men will be present—all Christians.

If God ever wrought miracles he is working miracles today among the railroad men.

THE MORNING SESSION.

The Association met this morning at 9.30. A song service was held, followed by the reading of Rom. 12:16 by Mr. George Stephens, of Charlotte. He said: "If any one fact stands out prominently in our day it is the fact that men are uniting in organizations, drawing closer together bound by one band of love. We find in these verses that Christians are one body in Christ. We have over the Master's close sympathy with men." This was followed by prayer and song. Mr. Huntington, of Charlotte then gave a thirty minutes Bible reading.

At 10.30 the claims of the General Secretaryship of Men of Education and Ability, was discussed by Mr. W. H. Morris, of Baltimore. He said: "I do not remember ever to have seen a convention where so large a per cent. of the men were college men. I want this morning to present to you a a new field. The Y. M. C. A has become a powerful organization, wielding great influence, with great opportunities before it. A new field has been opened up for our young men, where they may wield a mighty influence for Christ. Our secretaries come in contact with thousands of young men all over this land. We need consecrated intelligent young men. Only recently has the Y M. C. A. started the study classes at night. We have great libraries. The secretaries have charge of these and select the literature. We need men of executive ability. Bible training, etc.

"Now young men if you want your life to count for Christ, here is the field. We look to the colleges to furnish these men. Think over it, pray over it, and may God direct you in all things."

Mr H. O. Williams, General Secretary for railroad men, then made a talk from Hoshea 10:12 "We cannot" he said, "number our blessings, privilege has been ours as individuals. Last year was a year of blessing to our organization. While we were thus blessed, there are thousands of young men, all over our land, who were not reached by the Y. M. C. A. In this State there are 2,400 young men in the Y. M. C. A. Here we see our great opportunity. We are the ones to carry on this work. 'What time is it?' God answers it is time to be at work, to move forward for the Y. M C. A., to establish agencies in the state.

You have decided to raise $1,500 for the state work. It would cost more than that to hang a man in my county. Yet this is the amount to carry on the work of Christ in this department.

A subscription was then taken for the state work, $615 was raised. Mr. W B Letta extended a hearty invitation to the convention to meet next year in Wilmington.

At 3:30 this afternoon, "Work for Boys," was discussed by Mr. F. C. Abbott, of Charlotte; at 4 o'clock, "The Young Man and His Evening's," by W. T Latta, of Wilmington; 4:30. "The True place of the Phisical Culture Department," A. S. Thompson, of Charlotte, and at 5 o'clock "What can the Association do for the young men in towns and villages," by A. W. Hicks, of Winston.

Tonight, "a preacher's view," will be presented by Rev. J. A. Dorritee, of Charlotte, and "A Modern Y. M. C. A. at work," by G. C. Huntington, of Charlotte.

GAY IN PRETORIA.

Exulting Over the Exhibition of Britain's Crack Regiment.

London, April 7.—A Pretoria despatch says that the British troops captured at Korn Spruit arrived as prisoners and belong to the Prince of Wales own regiment. The sight of the brilliantly dressed soldiers, Great Britain's crack regiment, delighted the burghers. The prisonors have been exhibited to the burghers to encourage them. The effect was inspiring. Five hundred British subjects were ordered to leave Johannesburg today. A hundred were ordered to quit Pretoria.

GROWTH OF THE CITY SCHOOLS.

The Enrollment is Now More Than Six Times What it Was Ten Years Ago.

Written for the Telegram.

It will probably be interesting to the people of Greensboro to know that the enrollment in the city schools is six times as large as it was ten years ago. In 1890 there were less than 200 in the white schools. Up to the present time more than 1,2 0 have been enrolled in the white schools. Last year there were 1,133. In 1890 there were 5 white teachers and one superintendent; Now there are 26 white teachers and one superintendent.

In 1890 there was one colored school with 3 teachers and about 125 pupils. Now there are 547 pupils.

In 1890 the school population, white and colored, was 1781. This year the school census shows 1800 white, and 1595 colored: Total 3395.

This school population gives to the city from the county fund $5,702.

A comparison of the school population and the enrollment in the schools show, that while the school population has not quite doubled during the last ten years the enrollment is six times as large as it was in 1890.

On last Friday Mr. R. F. Wyche who has chosen as his life's work, the telling of beautiful stories to young folks, entertained the children of the Lindsey Street Grammar school.

The Physiology class of Asheboro Street school had the opportunity of listening to an instructive lecture by D. Wheeler on "The care of the teeth." Words of warning from such a man on this subject are of great value to children and we assure Dr. Wheeler that his kindness was greatly appreciated.

WILSON CALDWELL BELL RINGER

THE SERVANT PHILOSOPHER OF THE UNIVERSITY.

A Touching Epitaph Suggested for His Monument—His Soulful Ringing.

Some two years ago Wilson Caldwell, for so many years janitor of the University, died The following touching tribute was prepared, printed, and circulated among the alumni by W. J. Peele, Esq., of Raleigh. It is presented to us by one of them, who thinks it has not been published except as stated:

Tall, straight as an Indian, black, wiry and lithe, bland, affable, respectful and popular—carrying a bucket of water in each hand up three flights of stairs and springing over two steps at a time—waiting on forty or fifty rooms before eight o'clock in the morning and often blacking shoes at twenty-five cents a month in the bargain—supporting and educating a large family, and finally leaving behind a good estate, the fruit of his industry and economy—such was Wilson Caldwell, a philosopher of work, a leader of his race, the friends of the white people, a Christian, I believe, and a gentleman of the old school.

Once, and only once, he left the service the of University, attracted by the good nature and good fortune of Julian S. Carr; but he soon returned to his first love, and, when asked the reason, said: "Durham is no place for a literary man."

He was charitable to every fault except outrageous uncleanliness—and woe to the students who fell under the ban of his withering smile italicized by his deprecatory grunt! It was worse than an excommunication by the society. The solitary victim whom I remember never recovered from its effect, coupled with the fact which brought it down on his head. It went through college that his "raising" had "Wiltz's" charity into an exclamation of pity.

There was none so sure to recognize his old friends amid all changes and welcome them back to commencement. There was, perhaps, a slight touch of sympathy in his greeting to any favorite who had not made the stir in the world that he expected; and as the years went by and still the looked for plaudits did not come, the wrinkles about the upper lip would grow gradually finer and drier as the hope in his smile did away.

Pious-looking old Tom Kirby, the assistant janitor, was accused of bringing liquor to the students in his bootlegs—and they were indeed capacious enough to accommodate two or three pint ticklers each without impairing the gravity of his slow, shambling gait—but calumny was never ambitious enough to whisper a breath against Wiltz, as the boys called him for short. He wore his character with as much decorum and respectability as Prof. Hooper did his slightly faded broadcloth.

He never missed his bells—from the rising bell on a dreary winter morning to the one he tolled at the midnight funeral of the wine-slain sophomore, it was the same—he was there—and his "old-timey" silver watch never failed him. He punctuated with mournful emphasis the funeral hymn which "Bishop" Betts (as the boys called our college choir-leader) sang on that occasion, and marked with solemn cadence the measured tread of the students as they marched in the funeral train from the chapel to the eastern slope of the hill.

As a bell-ringer Wiltz was a complete success. He knew how to get out all there was in his instrument, and there was much in it. The rich conscious-stricken students from the South, who melted the old bell when they burned down the belfry, put their silver into a new and better one—where its value could never be degraded. To those who know its history, and to the finer spirits who rightly divine it there is a minor tone floating ever with the volume of its sounds which chimes with the mellow memories of the best we have done and suffered. This is the spirit-song of the silver in the bell.

Wiltz knew how to graduate his wise-sounding monody to the importance of the occasion. You could catch the inspiration of its crescendo the first morning of commencement, and the sound-waves flooded higher and higher until the last and great day; then easily overflowing the campus, they rolled out through the leafy aisles and corridor of Battle Park, and poured down the valleys and up over the distant hills—startling the inchoate orators practicing on their sylvan auditors, and thrilling the approaching multitude with commencement fever. He was ringing out the sines and the co-sines, the tangents and the logarithms and ringing in the girls with their scented robes and e oud-like draperies, and the "gilded air-cities of hope" where youth's imagination peoples them.

Up among the shadows which gloomed perpetual twilight in the "Old South" building, this silent, sweating stalwart was throwing his soul into his bell. How many jurists and statesmen and soldiers has he rung on and off the stage! Well, he has rung himself off and out at last. Let him go with the honors of the race he so much delighted honor.

The alumni ought to rear a simple monument over the place where he sleeps, and on the resurrection side of it, to catch the full glow of the last sunrise, they should inscribe:

Here was laid the body of Wilson Caldwell,
The student's friend and servant,
An exemplar of modest merit,
The best type of the black man,
Whom he sought to elevate by labor;
The solution of the race problem.
Mindful mainly of his duties,
His rights were cheerfully conceded.
Himself ever respectful, he was always respected.
Diligence dignified his service.
Three generations of white men testify of his faithfulness.
Let him rest here till he's ready for work again.

WHY CAN'T THEY VOTE FOR IT?

Capt. John F. Rowland, of Rutherfordton, was in Charlotte Thursday, and told the Observer that, though he is a Republican, he is in favor of the constitutional amendment, and said that R. S. Eaves, E-q., a son of Capt. Jonh B. Eaves, is also in favor of the amendment If we are not mistaken Mr. Eaves was a nominee of his party for judge in 1898. The republicans are now making a good deal of boast about the great number of Democrats who, they claim, will vote against the amendment. The Republicans are not near so certain of polling their full party strength as the Democrats are. The issue is too important and appeals too directly and powerfully to white men for anything less than a very warm campaign to be waged. The lines will be drawn very tight, and the number of Democrats who fail to vote will be quite insignificant, while the number who will vote against the measure will be too small to count.

There was but one argument which the opponents waged against the amendment with anything like success, and this will have lost its potency long before the election. The argument referred to was the statement that the grandfather clause of the proposed amendent would be declared unconstitutional, and therefore, the educational provision will fall with deadly effect upon all white men who cannot read and write. But this argument has been pretty well blocked by the suggestion that at its June session the legislature would propore another clause to the amendment, declaring that the measure must be construed as a whole, and that if any part of it falls the whole structure must fall with it. If this section is carried out there need be no excuse for fear on the part of the illiterate white voters that they will be unable to vote, for their vote will be as secure as that of the most highly educated.

Why should not Republicans who are such from principle, and have at heart the best interest of their State support this measure? Of course the office holders and the office seekers will never do so, for it is to their advantage for the negro to continue voting, but we see no reason why those Republicans who are not bound by such interests should not break away from the lead of the politicians and vote for a measure which, though submitted to the people by the Democratic party, will immensely purify and dignify their own party.

A walnut does not more surely indicate the kind of tree upon which it grew than does the action of the Honorable Webster Davis, in taking the platform to lecture over the country in behalf of the Boers, indicate what variety of man he is. As supplementary to what we were saying the other day we find an editarial in the Philadelphia Record which throws more light upon the character of Mr. Davis and proves what we suspected, that he belongs to that class of men who overturn heaven and earth to keep themselves in the public eye, and who enter into a precise mathematical calculation as to the effect which each of their efforts will will have upon the grandstand. Mr. Davis was Assistant Secretary of the Interior. Of his relation with his superior the Record says:

Soon after his appointment the head of the department decided that no building in Washington was large enough for himself and his assistant. He is said to have told the President that, much as he valued a Cabinet office, he could not pay the price of daily association with the ambitious Mr. Davis. The Administration was face to face with a problem. The politicians who had relieved themselves of the patriotic duty of getting a place for Mr. Davis refused to listen to the suggestion of his resignation. The problem was solved by sending him out of the country, but allowed him to continue to draw his salary.

So the gentleman whose strongest combination is his name will be snuffed out shortly.

We do not believe there is a word of truth in the statements that Admiral Dewey's announcement of himself as a candidate for President is a part of a plan to defeat Mr. Bryan. We do, however, believe that Dewey is a big old fool, whose head has been turned by popular applause. He has not done or said a sensible thing since his arrival in the country from Manila—last September, and his absurb, abortive, candidacy for the presidency, is doubtless of his own motion.—Charlotte Observer.

We are enough of a Samuel Weller, Sr., to agree with the Observer only when it amends its opinion enough to give Mrs. Dewey the credit for making the motion.

MAIDS AND MATRONS.

Written for the Telegram.

Though the Lenten season is strong, several social events of interest have occurred during the week.

* * * *

The Social Card Club was charmingly entertained on Tuesday afternoon by Miss Ruth Porter, at her home on Summit avenue. Duplicate whist was played. Miss Porter, always a charming and gracious hostess, made this a delightful occasion.

* * * *

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs Tom Gregory entertained the Bachelor Girls and their gentlemen friends at the home of Mr. J. D. Catlin, on Davie street. This brilliant social event was a Ragtime party and the novel idea was most successfully carried out. The souvenirs represented miniature slices of watermelon, and in the game of progressive Rounce which was played, little pickaninnies were used as counters. Miss Alice Small, the successful contestant in the game, was awarded a handsomely bound volume of "Chronicles of Aunt Minervy Ann," while Mr. Arthur Rankin received the consolation prize Carnations and smilax made a beautiful and effective decoration. Mrs. Gregory was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J D. Catlin and Miss Porter. Those present were: Misses Leslie Peyton, Mazie Moore, Alice Small, Elizabeth Balsey, Pearl Balsey, Kay Small, Mary Goolsby, Vivian Shober, Ruth Porter and Mabel Kase; Mesdrs. W. T. Powe, Arthur Rankin, R. D. Gold, Jr., W. F. Blount, De Witt Kase, Drs. Scott and Roberson, E. R. Carter and John King.

The report that one of our young Mds would ere long become a benedict has hardly ceased to be the talk of the town, and now Dame Rumor has it that another is soon to wed. And this one isn't going very far for his bride.

* * * *

Miss Mabel Kase spent several days in Danville this week, the guest of Miss Elizabeth George.

* * * *

Miss Louise Holt is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. George Mebane, at their home on West Washington street.

* * * *

Mrs. G. W. Whitsett, who has been spending some time with friends in Wadesboro and Rockingham, is expected home this evening.

* * * *

Miss Ellis, of Hickory, spent several days at the Guilford this week.

* * * *

Mr. W. T. Powe will spend Sunday in Danville, Va.

* * * *

Mrs. Ernest Holt, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Holt in Wilmington, returned last night.

* * * *

Mrs. J. H. Holcombe, of Danville, who was called here by the illness of her sister, Mrs. R. R King, returned to her home this morning. Mrs. King, we are glad to learn, is convalescing.

* * * *

At St Barnabae church tomorrow morning Mr. J. Wesley White will sing "The Palms."

* * * *

The Shakespeare Club met on Tuesday evening with Miss Vivian Shober. The evening was devoted to the study of the play "Much Ado About Nothing." Interesting papers were read by Miss Tinnin, on the characters, Hero and Beatrice; Mr. Ed Wills, on Dogberry; Miss Lilian Weatherly, on the witty passages in the Play; Mr. Lee Wharton, on The Plot of the Play. Miss Michaux's bright and clever paper on The Lovers—Claudia and Benedick—was much enjoyed. This club was formerly known as the "Boreal Reading Club," but having taken up the study of Shakespeare's plays exclusively, the name was changed.

* * * *

Miss Mazie Moore, accompanied by Miss Alice Small, returned to her home at Brown Summit yesterday. Miss Moore, who has been the guest of the Misses Small for several weeks, was the recipient of much attention during her visit, and leaves many friends and admirers to regret her departure.

The news that Emma Carre, the grand opera singer, is suffering from an incurable disease and may never appear on the stage again, comes as a great shock and brings sorrow to the hearts of all devotees of the divine art. She spent part of the winter at Palm Beach Fla., for rest, it was said, and there was no intimation of any serious trouble. But now comes the rumor that she is suffering from that dread, disease cancer. Endowed with an incomparable voice, and remarkable histrionic talent, she stands at the head of Grand Opera singers, and there is absolutely no one to take her place.

It is true that in Ireland, with the spread of general knowledge and improved medical aid, "cures" and superstitions are on the wane, but still "the misthress' bottle" is much preferred to the doctor's, and the advice of a "lucky woman" is of much higher value than that of an M. D. Apart from the medical knowledge required, it is no light matter to undertake to prescribe for one's neighbors, as the following will show:

"If it's plazin to y'r honor, I'm come to ax for a bottle," said an old woman. "I was tuk that bad last night I thought the life 'u'd lave me."

After due inquiry into her symptoms she was given a packet of arrowroot, with minute directions how to prepare it. As she scarcely seemed to take them in, a happy thought struck the lady. "You know how to make starch, don't you?" she asked.

"Yes," said the old woman.

"Then make it just like that," said her friend, "and add a little sugar to it."

The old woman departed, to return next day with the information that she was like to die after atin what Miss Norah gave her, and, with all due respect to her, she couldn't get it all down; it wint so ag'inst her.

She was requested to bring what remained for inspection, which revealed that the directions as to starch had been literally carried out. She had put blue in it.—Cornhill Magazine.

The Forest of Fontainebleau.

"We spent the night in Barbizon, paid a goodly bill and set off in the company of our English friends for the town of Fontainebleau, lying at the center of 50 square miles of forest," writes a girl from Paris to The Ladies' Home Journal. "It is never wild, never mysterious, this forest that thousands of artists have loved to paint, but it is calm and grand and never tedious. For eight hours we wandered over plains covered with towering oaks, among rocky gorges, out of which slender, graceful beeches rise, and through miles of fragrant, giant pines. And everywhere are feathery ferns and purple heather.

"There is not the slightest chance of losing one's way. Every square inch of the forest has been mapped out, and at the intersection of every two avenues a red hand points to the town, and a blue hand indicates the direction of one of the 'sights.' And Fontainebleu? We saw only the palace, a bewildering maze of magnificent rooms. Everywhere there was richness, everywhere wonderful frescoes, wonderful stairways, wonderful tapestry, wonderful inlaid furniture. The grandeur is oppressive, and we were glad to get out into the park, to wander about in the different courts."

A "Practical" Joke.

An Irishman took a contract to dig a public well. When he had dug about 25 feet down, he came one morning and found it caved in—filled nearly to the top.

Pat looked cautiously round and saw that no one was near, then took off his hat and coat and hung them on the windlass, crawled into some bushes and waited events. In a short time the citizens discovered that the well had caved in, and, seeing Pat's hat and coat on the windlass, they supposed he was at the bottom of the excavation.

Only a few hours of brisk digging cleared the loose earth from the well. Just as the eager citizens had reached the bottom and were wondering where the body was Pat came walking out of the bushes and good naturedly thanked them for relieving him of a sorry job.

Some of the tired diggers were disgusted, but the joke was too good to allow of anything more than a hearty laugh, which soon followed.—London Answers.

The Eskimo's Liver.

Does every one know in what notable physical particulars the Eskimos who live in the far north differ from us temperate zone people? It will be remembered that half a dozen or more Eskimos came to New York from the arctic zone with one of Lieutenant Peary's homing parties. Most of them died presently of pneumonia, to the distress and somewhat to the indignation of the public. Of several of them careful autopsies were made and, not a little to the excitement of our medical world, it was discovered that the Eskimo intestine was about four feet shorter than ours is, and that his liver was not shaped like what we have been used to call a human liver, but was more like that of a dog. The Eskimo, apparently, is so constructed that he can live and thrive under such conditions and on such a diet as he can command at home.—Harper's Weekly.

That Coal Scuttle.

In these days when so many excuses are used to obtain entrance to dwelling houses and burglars carry off everything possible it is as well to be careful. Therefore when a servant recently informed her mistress that a strange man had called and said that he had come to "measure for a coal scuttle" the mistress was naturally alarmed. The man came again, however, bringing with him three others, and then it appeared that he had come to put in an electric wire and box for messenger service. What he really meant to tell the servant in the first place was that he had come to measure for the "call box." He had apparently broadened it into "coal box," and the servant had repeated it as "coal scuttle."—New York Mail and Express.

A Long Wait.

Thomas Nelson Page's entrance into literature was discouraging. He sent the short story called "Marse Chan" to The Century. It was accepted. Then Page waited, just waited. Six years later the tale was printed. It made a hit, and after that things came easily.—New York World

ALWAYS BEEN A DEMOCRAT.

Dewey Never Wanted to Vote for Any One But Cleveland.

Washington, April 6—Admiral and Mrs. Dewey returned to Washington tonight from their brief visit to Philadelphia. A number of reporters were at the house awaiting his return. In response to a question, the admiral said that he expected in a few days to have ready for the press a statement as to his future plans.

"Certainly I am a democrat," he replied, in answer to inquiries. "I have always been a democrat."

"Have you ever voted the democratic ticket?"

"No, I never voted in my life. The only man I ever wanted to vote for was Mr. Cleveland."

"It is said that Mr. Cleveland wants you to run on a straight/gold democratic platform?"

"Good night," answered the admiral without answering the question and retired.

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

We believe that Chamberlains's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough, and having read their advertisements in our own own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see how it would affect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine out for colds and coughs —The Herald, Andersonville, Ind. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

DECIDES IN BECKHAM'S FAVOR

COURT SAYS HE IS THE LEGAL GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY.

The Villainous Plan of Goebel's Murder as Told by Different Grand Jury Witnesses.

Louisville, April 6—The court of appeals this afternoon decided the governorship injunction case, appealed from the Louisville circuit court, in favor of Beckham, democrat, by a vote of six to one. A dissenting opinion was filed by Judge Durelle, republican. Two republican judges concurred with the four democrats on the bench. This decision declares Beckham legally governor of Kentucky.

The full story of the assassination of Senator Goebel was given out by the Goebel attorneys today. It is a detailed statement of the killing as told by various witnesses for the commonwealth before the grand jury. The statement, in part, follows:

"Jim Howard, the Clay county feudist, is the man suspected by the commonwealth of having fired the shot from a 38-calibre Marlin rifle, furnished by Henry E Youtsey, who bought the steel bullet and smokeless-powder cartridges from a well-known Cincinnati house. It is charged in the confessions that have been made that Caleb and John Powers, Charles Finley and two or three others, whose names are known, helped in forming the conspiracy, and that Jim and Berry Howard, Youtsey, Culton and one or two others, each having his special part, executed it.

It has been denied that Culton has made a confession, but he has done so, though the prosecution does not believe that he has told all that he knows. Youtsey confessed to Col. T. C. Campbell on the same afternoon that Culton gave his statement. He had already confessed to Col. James Andrew Scott, to whom he went for advice as to what he ought to do. All this was made public in Col. Scott's recent statement.

"Had I not been truthful," said Youtsey to one of those connected with the case, "my connection probably would not have been proved. But when Frank Johnson, the assistant Janitor, asked me where I was when the shooting occurred I did not lie, an said that I was at my desk."

Unless it is necessary—and at present it does not seem to be—Youtsey will not be taken before the grand jury. The fact that it is not now believed to be necessary shows the strong evidence which the commonwealth already has, for Youtsey knows more than Culton and Golden combined.

Youtsey implicates W. S. Taylor, stating that he was one of eight or nine men who knew of this end of the conspiracy which was carried out in Caleb Powers' office. The men implicated are W. S. Taylor, Caleb Powers, John L. Powers, Charles Finley, W. H. Culton, Jim Howard, probably Berry Howard, one other man and himself.

In his confession Youtsey says that certain prominent republican leaders would not trust the negroes, Combs and Heckersmith, with the work, and when another was engaged he refused to do the shooting until the money was paid. The demand was made just before the shooting, while in the executive building. The cash installment is said to have been $1,600. Youtsey went out of the room, got the money and turned it over to the proper persons. He knows who was in the room, but it is said he claims either to have left the room or to have turned his back when the shots were fired.

Further in his statement Culton says former Governor W. O. Bradley came to him after the talk with Youtsey and said: "I understand there is a plot to kill Goebel. This must not be done, and you must see a stop put to it. Such a thing would ruin the republican party in Kentucky."

Culton says he told Bradley what Youtsey had said. Culton went to Youtsey and repeated Mr. Bradley's statement. "We've given up the plan," said Youtsey in reply.

Goebel was killed with a rifle owned by Mr. Grant Roberts, a brother of Mr. Sam Roberts, collector of internal revenue at Lexington. Mr. Roberts, however, was entirely innocent of any connection with the conspiracy, and it was without his knowledge that his rifle was being used. It was a 38-calibre Marlin, and one of the truest and best ever made. Youtsey had raised it and it fell into the possession of Mr. Roberts, who placed it in the vault in the auditor's office. Several days before the assassination it disappeared from the vault. Mr. Roberts was angry about its removal and made an effort to find out who had taken it.

The door to Powers' office was opened with the key which was given to Youtsey. Youtsey knows who entered, and it is virtually certain that he has said that Jim Howard was one of them. Howard is under indictment for the killing of George Baker, the father of Tom Baker, who was killed in Clay county while guarded by soldiers. Howard had been trying to get a pardon from Taylor for killing George Baker, and it is claimed that Powers and others assured Howard he could get the pardon if he would kill Goebel. After the shooting, Youtsey went down through the basement and out the back way. He was seen by a number of witnesses to run around the building, and a few minutes later he entered Taylor's office.

HE FOOLED THE SURGEONS

All doctors told Kenick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, Ohio, after suffering 18 months from rectal fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

Blobbs—"I'm the most unlucky fellow in the world." Slobbs—"Why don't you nail a horseshoe over the door?" Blobbs—"I tried that once, and it tumbled down on my head and nearly cracked my skull."

WRITES FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

A COLORED OFFICER TELLS WHAT HE HAS SEEN.

Thinks the Army Was Led There by an Unseen Hand to Carry Civilization and Progress.

The city editor of the Telegram has received the following letter from David Gilmer, a colored man of Greensboro, who is now in the Philippines, and publishes it as an interesting article from point of view of a colored soldier—

After scouting two days over eighty-one miles of rough country by foot with a detachment of thirty men I returned to where the main body is situated and found a letter from a friend, saying, among other things, "write us the truth about the war in the Philippines, the natives and the country, and send it to the Evening Telegram."

Fighting for the past three weeks has amounted to nothing serious. I can't say for the future. As to the natives I have seen, they are colored people and not savages, but ignorant of modern industry. They wear the same peculiar style of dress as their forefathers did. No race has demonstrated their appreciation for culture and the rights of women more than the Filipinos. They attend their churches, the children the schools and many of them are anxious to learn English. I regret to say to the discredit of some American white soldiers that they have been telling these people things about the American white and colored people that was fuel for the fire of rebellion and would make you blush for the ignorance of such soldiers in a time like this. Every day that brings the truth to these people about the true American people and their policy toward the poor and needy, is a surrender by some insurrector. No nation will do more for the upbuilding of these people and this country than the Americans.

Regarding this country, its climate is healthy and like summer the year round. Its water supply makes it a kindred country to the commercial world; so rich in mineral and agricultural possibilities that its ultimate wealth is certain to make it one of the wealthiest prospected American possessions, and should be governed by the true Americans and not mere politicians.

Think of a race of people living in a mineral laden country that knows not the touch of modern industry or agriculture, its productive fields being a vast empire of loneliness over which solitude has control, and almost undiscovered land awaits the magic touch of enterprise and development. Mahogany and ebony were never intended for firewood nor bamboo for furniture, or grass for houses among civilized people.

When Patrick Henry said, "Give me liberty or give me death," I do not believe he meant liberty to live like the Filipinos but like his posterity. The American lives and money spent in the Philippine archipelago is for work like that given to the American people, and after the milk white flag shall have been permanently hoisted here, its command obeyed and the industrious Americans, with their money come over here, grass houses will disappear like the log cabins of my forefathers in the south after the civil war; their homes will be illuminated with intelligence, good food and clothing on account of good pay for their labor; agriculture, the hand-maid of prosperity, will establish her domain, and in a few years the achievements of their voyage across the sea will re-echo their progressiveness back across the Pacific ocean, sounding the bell of commerce in their native America, with the stars and stripes playing silently against the breezes of the orient. "My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty."

I believe the American army was led into Porto Rico and Cuba, and is here by that unseen hand which inspired the poet and stirred his thoughts when he wrote:

"Right is right, since God is God;
And right the day must win;
To doubt would be disloyalty,
To falter would be sin."

Respectfully,
David J. Gilmer.
First Lieut. Forty-ninth Infantry.

W. W. Mayhew, Merton, Wis., says, "I consider One Minute Cough Cure a most wonderful medicine, quick and safe." It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. It cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, grippe, whooping cough, pneumonia and all throat and lung diseases. It's early use prevents consumption. Children always like it and mothers endorse it. SEVEN RUNNING SORES CURED
—BY—
Johnston's Sarsaparilla
QUART BOTTLES.

THE GREAT SPRING MEDICINE.

JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA as a Blood Food and Nerve Energizer, is the greatest SPRING MEDICINE ever discovered. It comes as a rich blessing from heaven to the "worn out," the run down, the overworked and debilitated. That "tired feeling," those "sinking spells," the languor and despondency which arise from badly nourished nerves, from thin, vitiated blood and an underfed body, vanish as if by a magic spell. The weariness, lassitude and nervous prostration which accompany the spring-time and the heat of summer, are conquered and banished at once. For every form of neurasthenia, and all ailments of the brain and nerve, insomnia, hysteria and nervousness generally, it is almost a specific. It furnishes the very elements to rebuild worn-out nerve tissues. It feeds brain, nerve centers and nerves, calming and equalizing their action; it makes rich, red, honest blood. Newness of life, new hope, new strength follow its faithful use. It makes the weak strong, and the old young again.

It was the antiquated (but now happily exploded) method in the good old times, to treat Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Cancer and other troublesome disorders arising from BLOOD TAINT with powerful alteratives, such as mercury, arsenic and other mineral agents. It was expected by this treatment that the poison could be killed while the blood was left to course through its channels holding in its circulation the specific germs of the disease. But in this way, every part of the body became more or less diseased. Nothing can be more terrible than a horribly destructive blood taint. It not only attacks virulently the different structures of the body, but many times the bones are honey-combed and destroyed. It often seeks out the nerves and spinal cord, and again it will bring decay and death to some vital organ, as the kidneys, liver or stomach. There is only one scientific method for the cure of blood taint. That is, PURIFICATION! Every particle of the blood must be removed through the excretory channels, the lungs, kidneys, bowels, liver and skin. "First pure, then peaceable." The great restorative, reconstructive and vitalizer of the blood, JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA, not only radically and exhaustively removes the taint, but also removes all mercury, calomel and other minerals, and fills the veins and arteries with the ruby, glowing current of vitality. "The blood is the life." Good health means pure blood. The old and reliable remedy, JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA, is universally regarded as the greatest Blood Purifier ever discovered. This fact is now established beyond question or cavil.

BURIAL OF DR. WORTH.

Remains of the Distinguished Man Laid to Rest

As gently and quietly as the snow flake finds its place on the whitened earth, did the spirit of Dr. J. M. Worth steal away, leaving the mortal remains of the revered and honored man in the hands of tender and loving friends to be confined to their tomb in mother earth. The funeral rites were solemnized at the Presbyterian church in Asheboro yesterday at 11 o'clock The services were conducted by Rev. C. E. Hodgin, of this city. The attendance was large, and there were many prominent people there from different points. Interment was made in the cemetery at Asheboro.

The honorary pall bearers were: Dr. W. A. Lash, J. S. Hunter, W. E. Coffin, of Greensboro; O. R. Cox, of Cedar Falls; Thos. J. Redding, of Randolph; M. S. Robbins, P. H. Morris, of Ash boro; W. H. Watkins, of Ramseur; W. J. Armfield Sr., and W. H. Ragan, of High Point

North Carolina Wins.

In the joint debate last night at Chapel Hill between the Universities of North Carolina and Georgia the Tar Heels won. The subject debated was: "Resolved, that the English system of government is better suited to the needs of a free people than the American system." Mr. D. P. Parker and Mr. J. W. Swift represented our university and upheld the negative side of the question. This is the fourth in the series of debates and North Carolina has lost only one—the first. The next debate will occur in Tennessee the last of this month between Vanderbit and our University.

COUNTY CONVENTION TODAY.

LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF DEMOCRATS.

Great Speech on the Constitutional Amendment by the Next Governor, Hon. C. B. Aycock.

The democratic county convention met shortly after noon today with a large attendance. County Chairman A. M. Scales called the convention to order and made a short but timely speech. Prof. M. H. Holt was chosen permanent chairman, Z. V. Taylor secretary, and members of the democratic press assistants.

A committee was appointed to name delegates to the state convention. On motion all democrats who wish to go to Raleigh were empowered to act as delegates in addition to those named by this convention.

Hon. A. L. Brooks introduced the following resolution:

"Whereas, we believe that in a Democratic government like ours, all servants of the people should be elected by the people, therefore be it resolved,

"That the delegates from this county to the state convention to be held at Raleigh, April 11, 1900, be, and they are hereby instructed to vote and work for the adoption by said convention of such measures as may be necessary to insure to the Democrats of this state the right to vote directly by primary for their choice for United States Senator."

AYCOCK'S SPEECH.

The hour having arrived for Hon. C. B. Aycock to address the convention a committee was appointed to escort him to the hall. The great democratic leader was introduced by Mayor Z. V. Taylor. Mr. Aycock reviewed the vote of the democrats and fusionists the past two elections and showed that under the banner of white supremacy there was a change in two years of thirty thousand votes. Something had happened, we had had a return of the horrors which drove the white men together in 1868. Then we had a condition of anarchy in North Carolina. In those years two counties near here were declared to be in a state of military insurrection, when good white men were incarcerated in prison without any charge whatever. But the people rallied and in 1870 threw off the galling yoke and held the state until 1895. We had quiet, peace and good feeling, but a division had arisen and life on the farm had become a struggle with adversity and a new party arose promising relief

In 1892, 47,000 democrats left their own party and joined the new party believing that a division would result in a division of the negroes and thus insure safety. But the result was disastrous. Look at the condition that existed in Wilmington, the home of the descendents of the grand old heroes of the Revolution. Manhood had been aroused beyond the point of endurance and they had to turn out the vicious government there by absolutely demanding that the mayor and city officers give up their jobs and leave the city. The people had to act there from absolute necessity, and Governor Russell didn't even refer to it in his message to the legislature two months later. He knew there were great wrongs there and that the white people did right.

Governor Russell boasted that he only appointed eight negroes to office. That's not the point. We have had a white man for governor all along. It's not the officer we object to—it's the negro behind the officer.

Section 4 of the constitutional amendment is admitted to be legal; but that is not all. Section 5 takes in all the whites and leaves the negroes out.

Don't care whether you like owning the Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico or not, but the Great God overrules evil things for good. The rules of government for Hawaii read like it was drawn by a democratic legislature and passed by a two-thirds majority.

Ask any white man who believes the negro as capable of government as the unlettered white man to step upon the platform and so declare it.

The more you study the amendment the prettier it gets. The republicans tell the poor white man they can't make any distinction between him and the negro; the democratic party can and does make a distinction.

The educational feature of the amendment was eloquently discussed and loudly cheered. The tribute paid to the determination of the people of the state to learn the children to read and write beggars description at the hands of the reporter. It was clear, logical and full of feeling. It was a good speech throughout and listened to with rapt attention.

Academy of Music.

A small but very appreciative audience witnesses the presentation of The Adventure of Lady Ursula at the academy last night. Too much cannot be said of the acting of Mr. William Morris as Sir George Silvester, and Miss Francis Drake as Lady Ursula. They were supported by a superb cast each being an artist in his line. The costumes were by far the handsomest and most varied ever seen in Greensboro.

Next week being holy week the company playing Faust, and which plays in Charlotte tonight and in Raleigh the 16th, will spend the entire week here. The advance agent has already made arrangements for their board.

Help or They Perish.

GENERAL WHEELER MAY COME.

ENTHUSIASTIC FOR GUILFORD CELEBRATION.

Mrs. Wheeler's Grandfather Lost a Leg at the Battle of Guilford Courthouse.

Judge D. Schenck has received the following letter from Hon. Jas. E. Boyd, Assistant Attorney General:

Washington, D. C., April 4

Hon. D. Schenck,
Greensboro, North Carolina.

Dear Judge: I saw Gen. Wheeler yesterday and he is enthusiastic over the idea of coming to our Fourth of July celebration. However, he says that something may occur which will prevent.

"He says, that, unless some public duty intervenes to prevent, he will accept the invitation and be present at the celebration. I had a half hour's exceedingly pleasant talk with the old hero and among other things he told me that Mrs. Wheeler's grandfather, Harrison Jones, who was a private soldier in the Colonial Army, lost a leg at the battle of Guilford Court House. This soldier lived until 1843 and died in Mississippi at the house of Jacob Thompson, who was in Buchanan's cabinet. This incident causes the General to take peculiar interest in this noted Revolutionary battle. I would suggest that you take some action through the directors and have a invitation extended, and I also wish to recall what I said about inviting Gen. J. V. Boyton, who is a great personal friend of Gen. Wheeler's. These two soldiers, one of the Confederate and the other of the Federal side during the war, and both of whom were general officers in the war with Spain, would make a pair for our Fourth of July festival."

As a matter of course a gilt edged invitation, with our compliments, will be forwarded to these gallant heroes. And they must talk to our people and tell them how "battles were won."

Gen. Boyton is president of the Chicamauga Battle Field Park Co. He is well known over the South and a cordial welcome will greet him. Both are small men physically, but giants in the military annals of our country.

Bishop C. H. Fowler, of the Methodist Episcopal church, is improving, after a serious illness, at Buffalo, N. Y.

FOUR INJNRED IN A WRECK.

CARS GO OVER A TRESTLE ON D. & C. ROAD NEAR GULF.

One of the Injured, Mr. Howard B. Sterrett, Brought to Greensboro for Care and Treatment.

Yesterday afternoon there was a serious, if not fatal disaster on the Durham and Charlotte railway near Gulf, the junction with the Southern. Just west of the depot and not over a quarter of a mile distant, is a sharp curve on a trestle across a ravine near the old iron furnace. The train, which is a mixed one, carrying both freight and passengers, was coming into Gulf from the western extension of the road, and when near the trestle a box car, it seems, jumped the track, carrying with it one or two other cars, including the passenger coach. Part of the train was already on the trestle and the derailed portion was dragged along a few feet and tumbled into the abyss below, a distance of some eighteen or twenty feet.

The passenger coach went down and is a bad wreck. Three passengers aboard were seriously injured and a white train hand was badly hurt. The passengers were:

Mr. W. H. McNeill, lawyer, and editor of the Carthage Blade. The extent of his injuries is not definitely known.

Mr. Howard B. Sterrett, traveling salesman for Stover, Marshall & Co, Lynchburg, dangerously injured.

Mrs. Knight, of Chatham; seriously hurt.

Mr. Sterrett was brought to Greensboro late yesterday afternoon and taken to the McAdoo, where Drs. Turner and Michaux attended him. He was suffering a great deal, though there were no outward signs of serious injury, only a few scratches and bruises about the head being visible. The physicians do not think his injuries will prove fatal. He passed a good night and is resting comfortably today.

Boston Wins.

The game between Boston and Oak Ridge this afternoon closed at 5 o'clock resulting in a score of 9 to 2 in favor of the Boston team.

Continued Monday.

The serial story, "The Seven Days of Robt. Hardy," will be continued Monday.

The Candidates to Speak.

Let everybody remember the great Ratification Meeting to be held at the court house in Greensboro Tuesday night, April 17th. All the candidates on the State ticket except the candidate for Judge, will be present and discuss good government, the constitutional amendment and white supremacy.

A. M. Scales, Chairman.
Z. V. Taylor, Secretary.

FUNDS FOR THE CELEBRATION

The Committee Preparing to Call Upon All Patriotic Citizens.

The people of Greensboro and the surrounding country, in fact of the entire State have become familiar with the Fourth of July celebrations at the Guilford Battle Ground.

Last year, in view of the Fireman's Tournament, the celebration was omitted. This year, however, it will be again held, and held, if possible, in a more imposing manner than ever before.

But celebrations of all kinds require money and one which, as in this instance, is for a public and patriotic purpose should appeal for its support to every patriotic and public spirited citizen.

Mr. W. E. Bevil has been appointed by the Directors as the Chairman of the Finance Committee, and has selected as his assistants Messrs. J. A. Odell, J. W. Fry, C. M. Stedman, Jno M. Dick, R. D. Douglass, Thos. A. Glascock, J. W. Scott, Garland Daniel and William Simpson. These gentleman will shortly call upon the citizens of Greensboro for contributions, and we bespeak for them a most generous reception from every one according to his means.

Let us all join hands and strive to make this celebration one of which Greensboro may well be proud. We cannot afford to do otherwise.

A most enjoyable affair was the reception tendered the Y. M. C. A. delegates by the Epworth League of the Greensboro Female College last night.

The Fault of the Age.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox in the New York Journal.

The fault of the age is a mad end avor
To leap to heights that were made to climb;
By a burst of strength, one thought most clever,
We plan to forestall and outwit Time.

We scorn to wait for the thing worth having;
We want high noon at the day's dim dawn;
We find no pleasure in toiling and saving,
As our forefathers did in the old times gone.

We force our roses before their season,
To bloom and blossom for us to wear;
And then we wonder and ask the reason
Why perfect buds are so few and rare.

We crave the gain, but despise the getting;
We want wealth, not as reward, but dower;
And the strength that is wasted in useless fretting
Would fell a forest or build a tower.

MURRAY BROS.

Next to the Consumer is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed! But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.
